

Rescue of the Month

After surviving a fire, eight cats find loving, permanent homes.

By Courtney MacNealy

Susie Varsalone was just finishing up feeding her neighbor's dogs, which she had volunteered to housesit, when she received a devastating phone call. "The barn is on fire!" her close friend and fellow animal rescuer shouted. Varsalone raced to her car to head for the barn, where she had been feeding orphaned cats for more than three months. When she arrived, her worst fears were confirmed. Yellow police tape encircled a pile of debris that previously housed Varsalone's beloved felines.

Get the April 2009 issue of CAT FANCY to read the full article.