

Foster Focus

Valerie Sicignano tames the streets of New York City and beyond, one kitten at a time.

By Cimeron Morrissey

Every time she left the house, she found kittens wherever she went: in bushes, behind restaurants, in abandoned buildings. In one week alone in the early 1990s, Sicignano found and rescued 200 kittens by herself. That inspired her to start a mission to curb the endless stream of homeless felines and to encourage and teach others how to foster and tame feral kittens themselves.

**Get the January 2009 issue of CAT FANCY to read the full article.****