

Pixie Dust

The wild looking Pixiebob is all love.

By Elisa Jordan

Sometimes circumstances just work together, almost like they were meant to create something special. Looking back, when it comes to the Pixiebob, breed founder Carol Ann Brewer of Washington thinks that's the case.

Brewer began the process of building a wild-looking but domestic breed, which she named Pixiebob after her beloved cat.

Get the October 2009 issue of CAT FANCY to read the full article.