

(Updated: 09-19-2006)

Stay up-to-date with the latest cat news from all around the country.

Posted: September 19, 2006, 5 a.m. EST

Yard Sale to Help Care for Stray Cats

A cat lover is beginning to see her neighborhood grow rapidly, but it is not new neighbors who are moving in, it's stray and feral cats, The Richmond (Kentucky) Register reports. Read the article

Abandoned, Injured Cats Get Help

Sick, homeless cats are taken care of thanks to money from the SAD-SAC (Save A Dog-Save A Cat) organization, a nonprofit organization dedicated to paying the veterinary bills for abused, neglected or abandoned dogs and cats, The (Vermont) Caledonian-Record reports. Read the article

Cat Out of the Bag and Into Home

Boulder, Colo., police and rangers with the city's Open Space and Mountain Parks Department are trying to determine whether a cougar intruder is to blame for a residential break-in, The (Denver) Rocky Mountain News reports. Read the article

Feral Cat Problem Hits Town

The Niles, Ohio, City Council is contemplating a new law that would require cat owners to license their feline friends, The (Warren, Ohio) Tribune Chronicle reports. Read the article