

(Updated 09-09-06)

Stay up-to-date with the latest cat news from all around the country.

Posted: September 09, 2006, 5 a.m. EST

Catopia Opens Its Doors

A new cat-boarding facility called Catopia features standard rooms, private suites and many kitten- and cat-friendly amenities, such as full-size litterboxes, soft handmade beds and private perches, The (Salem, Oregon) Statesman Journal reports. Read the article

Organization Plans for Humane Officer

The president of Angels for Animals says his organization is working toward having a humane officer certified to enter property and seize animals when necessary, The (Youngstown, Ohio) Vindicator reports. Read the article

Wanted: Volunteers to Feed Feral Cats

Fix Our Ferals is looking for six volunteers to take over feeding feral cat colonies in a Northern California town, The Contra Costa (California) Times reports. Read the article

Woman Sentenced for Drowning Cats

A 20-year-old woman was sentenced to 45 days in jail, three years probation, 120 hours of community service and counseling for having a friend drown two cats, The (Denver) Rocky Mountain News reports. Read the article