

The CatChannel Newswire

Top stories: Faked tiger photo sparks web furor; managed feral cat colonies urged for city.

Posted: July 18, 2008 2 a.m. EDT

Faked Tiger Photo Sparks Web Furor

Little did Zhou Zhenglong know his tiger would become one of China's most fevered obsessions, one that ended with confirmation the photo was faked and with more than a dozen officials punished, The Associated Press reports.

Read the article

Managed Feral Cat Colonies Urged for City

Petaluma, Calif., may partner with animal advocates to increase oversight of feral cat colonies in town, with the goal of thinning the number of ferals through attrition rather than euthanasia, the Petaluma Argus-Courier reports.

Read the article

A Sanctuary for Animals in Arabian Desert

Ronel Smuts oversees a menagerie of exotic and endangered animals rescued from smugglers, airports, bazaars, palaces. Some arrive bone thin, others were abused, like the lioness whose teeth were filed down by a sheik, the Los Angeles Times reports.

Read the article