

The CatChannel Newswire

Top stories: Carjacked cat reunited with owner; Pittsburgh city council goes to the dogs, cats.

Posted: August 18, 2008 2 a.m. EDT

Carjacked Cat Reunited with Owner

Left behind in a Jeep stolen two weeks ago, Parsley the cat was presumed lost forever. That is, by everyone except his persistent owner. Now, Parsley has been found and is back home, safe and sound, the Connecticut Post reports.

Read the article

Pittsburgh City Council Goes to the Dogs, Cats

Every week, a dog and a cat visit Pittsburgh City Council. They behave better than a lot of visitors to the Council Chamber and, with few exceptions so far, they all have gotten what they came for. Since council began helping the Animal Rescue League in its "Drive for Five" campaign — a 2008 goal of getting 5,000 strays adopted — 13 dogs and 12 cats that have made council visits have been snapped up, the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette reports.

Read the article

Two Years for Cat Killer

A Los Angeles man who killed his girlfriend's cat, then told the woman's daughter he was going to kill her mother, has been sentenced to two years in prison, The Associated Press reports.

Read the article