

The CatChannel Newswire

Top stories: Dung is key to tracking elusive Cambodian tiger; jaguar picture: first seen in Central Mexico since 1900.

Posted: Feb. 14, 2009, 3 a.m. EST

Dung Is Key to Tracking Elusive Cambodian Tiger

A dog trained to sniff for tiger droppings will help conservationists determine if the big cats still roam one of Cambodia's largest nature reserves, the Associated Press reports.

Read the article >>

Jaguar Picture: First Seen in Central Mexico Since 1900

The largest cat in the Americas is alive and well in the heart of Mexico, scientists say, National Geographic News reports.

Read the article >>

Cat Brought Back to Life After Mobile-home Fire

Firefighters managed to bring a cat back to life and save another cat and a dog from a burning mobile home in San Clemente, Calif., Wednesday night, the Orange County (Calif.) Register reports.

Read the article >>