

The CatChannel Newswire

Top stories: Kitten on the mend from open heart surgery; proposal to eliminate feral cats scratches nerves.

Posted: March 13, 2009, 3 a.m. EDT

Town's Plan to Eliminate Strays Scratches Nerves of Animal Proponents

Complaints from residents in Rancho Viejo, Texas, about screeching cats and diseased strays are still pouring in, said Mayor Craig Flood, and the time has come for action, the Brownsville (Texas) Herald reports.

Read the article >>

Kitten on the Mend From Open Heart Surgery

Reece, the 7-month-old kitten who underwent open heart surgery two weeks ago, is recovering, back to walking on a leash and eating turkey slices, the Albany (N.Y.) Times Union reports.

Read the article >>

Lack of Pet License to Carry $75 Fine

Starting April 1, dog and cat owners in unincorporated King County, Wash., who fail to license their pets could face a $75 fine, the Seattle Times reports.

Read the article >>