

The CatChannel Newswire

Top stories: Cats get new digs at humane society; tree surgeon saves cat stuck in tree.

Posted: May 2, 2009, 3 a.m. EDT

Cats Get New Digs at Humane Society

Cats will have it cushy at Rancho Coastal Humane Society in Encinitas, Calif., while they wait for a family to adopt them, thanks to a new $350,000 cattery that will be unveiled to the public Saturday, reports the San Diego Union Tribune.

Read the article >>

Charleston Shelter Waiving Fees for Cats

The Charleston (S.C.) Animal Society is launching its Cat Project. Through May 3, the facility will be waiving its adoption fee for adult cats over a year old. The project is a way to help the shelter reduce the number of cats it's currently housing, WCBT-TV reports.

Read the article >>

Tree Surgeon Saves Cat Stuck in Tree

Stuck high up a tree was not the purr-fect place for Smudge the cat. But that was where the year-old feline was rescued from in East London by tree surgeon Brendan Smith, after an ordeal lasting around 38 hours, reports the Newham (England) Recorder.

Read the article >>