

The CatChannel Newswire

Top stories: Climate concerns prompt lawsuit over lynx habitat; rare white tiger kills zookeeper.

Posted: May 29, 2009, 3 a.m. EDT

Climate Concerns Prompt Lawsuit Over Lynx Habitat

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service is being sued by a coalition of environmental groups that says recent expansions to the Canada lynx's protected habitat are still insufficient to protect the endangered cat from climate change, the New York Times reports.

Read the article >>

Kansas Zoo: Lion Escaped After Door Left Open

The 150-pound mountain lion that escaped from a central Kansas zoo enclosure before being killed by police went through a door left open by a zookeeper, according to zoo officials, the Associated Press reports.

Read the article >>

Rare White Tiger Kills ZooKeeper

A rare white tiger mauled and killed a New Zealand zookeeper Wednesday, according to local media, Reuters reports.

Read the article >>