

The CatChannel Newswire

Top stories: Kitty found under hood of car after a long ride; Abraham Lincoln: Animal rights activist or just a decent human being?

Posted: July 2, 2009, 3 a.m. EDT

Kitty Found Under Hood of Car After Long Ride

Black and white, with singed whiskers and some dirt in between his pink paws, "Kenney" the kitten was all the rage at the Cocheco Valley Humane Society on Wednesday. Firefighters rescued him from under the hood of a car after, by all accounts, a patient from Kennebunk, Maine, drove to Dover, N.H., with the kitty hanging out next to the engine, Foster's Daily Democrat reports.

Read the article >>

Pet Store Bankruptcy Catastrophic for British Columbia SPCA

A Vancouver animal shelter has 150 per cent more cats than usual because a chain of pet stores, Petcetera, is in receivership. The seasonal explosion of kittens and cats would usually be handled by sending the cats to Petcetera stores, where people would adopt them, reports CBC.ca.

Read the article >>

Abraham Lincoln: Animal rights activist or just a decent human being?

Abraham Lincoln was a cat lover. Quite unusual for those times, and even now, cat lovers tend to be associated with the female population. (Just ask my daughter how hard it is to find a man that will love her cats!) Well, Abraham Lincoln loved his cats. Once Mary Todd Lincoln was asked if her husband had any hobbies. Her reply: "Cats," reports Examiner.com.

Read the article>>