

The CatChannel Newswire

Top stories: Can there be a day without cats on the Internet; cat-dog combination nothing to sneeze at.

Posted: Sept. 10, 2009, 3 a.m. EDT

Can There Be a Day Without Cats on the Internet?

A day without cats on the Internet. That was the goal for Wednesday set by Urlesque.com, AOL's site that highlights Web trends. Can it be done? "It will be hard," admitted Stephen Lenz, Urlesque.com editor. "But cats are overexposed, and they just need some time off away from the glare of the spotlight," reports the Houston Chronicle.

Read the article >>

Cat-Dog Combination Nothing to Sneeze At

Trying to decide whether a dog or cat will protect you from allergies? New research says you should live with both, The Age.com reports.

Read the article>>

Sheriff Needs Answer on Stray Cats, Dogs

Whether or not York Adopt-A-Pet continues to answer when called to deal with stray dogs and cats out in the rural reaches of the county was left very much up in the air Tuesday morning, reports the York (Nebraska) News-Times.

Read the article >>