

The CatChannel Newswire

Top stories: Pet airways expands its service to Florida; tiger cub treated for cataract.

Posted: October 23, 2009, 3 a.m. EDT

Pet Airways Expands Its Service to Florida

Many jet-setting pet owners were cheered when a new animals-only airline, Pet Airways, launched this past summer. Now Pet Airways is giving animal-loving travelers an additional option: Flights between New York and Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. for dogs and cats, the Los Angeles Times reports.

Read the article >>

Tiger Cub Treated for Cataract

It's a trip to the vet like you've probably never seen: a 4-month-old Bengal tiger cub comes in for a checkup. The problem? The kitty has a cataract, reports MyFoxTampaBay.com.

Read the article>>

Shelter Seeking Donations of Food, Supplies

Abbei Monroe has become accustomed to seeing cats and kittens being dropped off at the Harbor Humane Society's shelter in West Olive during her first year as marketing director for the organization. There are now more than 300 cats and kittens available for adoption there, and shelter officials anticipate that number to rise, reports the Grand Haven (Mich.) Tribune.

Read the article>>