

The CatChannel Newswire

Top stories: Woman convicted in pierced kittens case; estate planning can include pet provisions.

Posted: February 5, 2010, 3 a.m. EST

Woman Convicted in Pierced Kittens Case

A northeastern Pennsylvania woman who marketed "gothic kittens" with ear and neck piercings over the Internet has been convicted of animal cruelty, reports The Associated Press.

Read the article>>

Estate Planning Can Include Pet Provisions

What happens to pets when their owner dies? Amy Doville of Memphis agreed to care for seven animals for an elderly couple she considered grandparents. They made a bequest in their will for her to get a stipend to cover food and veterinary care. Out of the seven she inherited several years ago, three are still alive, reports the Commercial Appeal.

Read the article>>

Bobcat to be Returned to Wild

A bobcat captured near a Casa Grande, Ariz., subdivision earlier this week will soon have a new home in the wild, but health officials say the incident is a good reminder to residents to be cautious of wildlife that might be living nearby, reports KPHO.com.

Read the article>>