

The Cat Channel Newswire

Stay up to date with the latest cat news from all around the country.

Animal Remains to Be Exhumed Bay Area residents who buried their pups, cats and other animals at a pet cemetery must exhume their beloved companions now that a contract for a plot of land the cemetery sits on has expired, NBC11.com in San Francisco, Calif., reports. Read the article

Cat Lovers Sought in Final Thank You Sandy Switzer was always there for stray animals, but now her five house cats are soon to become orphans, The Peoria (Illinois) Journal Star reports. Read the article

New Shelter to Open The process of moving more than 40 prospective pets into new quarters is underway, The (New Iberia, Louisiana) Daily Iberian reports. Read the article

The Fix May Be in for Feline Owners Local animal rights activists and legislators say they would support a statewide law that would require cat owners to spay or neuter their pets or face penalties, The (Brockton, Massachusetts) Enterprise reports. Read the article Posted: June 14, 2006, 5:00 a.m. EST