

The Cat Channel Newswire (6/16/06)

Stay up to date with the latest cat news from all around the country.

Big Cats Thriving in Small AreaA mountain lion and four offspring roam between Encino and Point Mugu, The Ventura County (California) Star reports.Read the article

Pet Owners Still Denied Access to City ParksA measure that would have enabled owners to walk their dogs and cats on leashes along the perimeter of a half dozen city parks failed to win the support of Logans Municipal Council on Tuesday, after a split vote, The (Logan, Utah) Herald Journal reports.Read the article

County Offers Pet Owners Cheap Rabies Shots, LicensesSan Diego County residents can get inexpensive rabies shots and licenses and identification microchips for their dogs and cats from noon to 2 p.m., June 25, The North (San Diego) County Times reports.Read the article

2005 Was the Year of the Dog Cats Didn't Fare as WellIn Baltimore County, like the rest of America, dogs have become the less-common, but more-treasured, pets, The Owings Mill (Maryland) Times reports.Read the articlePosted: June 16, 2006, 5:00 a.m. EST