

The Cat Channel Newswire (7/13/06)

Stay up to date with the latest cat news from all around the country.

Great Cat Adventures Await County FairThe usual barnyard animals at the Floyd County Fair will be accompanied this year by a traveling show that features large cats from around the world, The Charles City (Iowa) Press reports.Read the article

No-Kill Shelter Re-opens at Larger SiteFaithful Friends, the Wilmington-based no-kill animal shelter, re-opened Wednesday for public adoptions after moving to a larger site last month, The (Delaware) News Journal reports.Read the article

Feline Beauty Runs Skin DeepA family adores a hairless cat named Harry, The Grand Traverse (Michigan) Herald reports.Read the article

Town to Take a Tough Stand on Feral FelinesPeople living in Killingly, Conn., are fed up with a growing problem of wild stray cats, WTNH-TV in Connecticut reports.Read the article Posted: July 13, 2006, 5:00 a.m. EST