

The Cat Channel Newswire (7/18/06)

Stay up to date with the latest cat news from all around the country.

Officials Work Out Pet Plans State and local officials have begun setting up Louisiana's new pet evacuation plan, The (Baton Rouge, Louisiana) Advocate reports. Read the article

Displaced Pets Find Homes Ventura County Adopt-A-Thon pairs animals with humans, The Ventura County (California) Star reports. Read the article

Company Promises to Breed Hypoallergenic Cat Some critics wonder whether the San Diego-based biotech firm Allerca will be able to deliver on its promise of breeding a hypoallergenic cat, The Associated Press reports. Read the article

Crowded Cages Plague Animal Center The cages are full at the Pima Animal Care Center and if adoptions don't happen more quickly, more cats and dogs might be at risk for developing viruses or being euthanized, The Arizona Daily Star reports. Read the article Posted: July 18, 2006, 5:00 a.m. EST