Thanksgiving is right around the corner and one cat litterbox maker is marking the holiday season with a contest seeking the best stories on why owners are thankful for their cats.

"We know cat lovers have many reasons they're thankful for their cats. We want to create this opportunity for you to share those feelings of gratitude with others who appreciate their feline companions," said Alan J. Cook, president of Lucky Litter LLC, the company conducting the contest.

Winners, to be announced by Dec. 18, will receive a free automatic litterbox or a case of six litter tray cartridges if they already own a Lucky Litter-made automatic litterbox.

Winners will also receive an autographed copy of the book "Tails of Devotion: A Look at the Bond Between People and Their Pets," by Emily Scott Pottruck. All proceeds from the sale of the book go to animal welfare organizations in the United States.

The contest runs through Nov. 30. Owners can enter the contest by visiting www.scoopfree.com/contest. Entrants are asked to include a picture of themselves and their cat with their entry.
