

Kitten-Proof Your Home

Like a curious child, your kitten wants to explore every inch of your home. Make sure it is safe.

Ron Bast

You have a combination safe cracker, escape artist, mountain climber and X-treme sports fanatic on your hands, and she's utterly clueless about life in the human world. But you're in charge, so consider your strategies carefully. You'll end up with a safer environment for your new family member, and for yourself as well.